RCI Ontario Chapter Breakfast Seminar

- The Ontario Chapter held a breakfast seminar on September 20th at Brae Ben Golf Club in Mississauga, Ontario. 32 attendees turned out with 6 more tuning in via a webcast which the chapter now provides at all off its educational seminars. The seminar included two (2) presentations which revolved around SB-10 & Fenestration.

The first presentation was by Mr. Les Szczepanski of Old Castle Building Envelope. Les provided the audience with detailed analysis on a topic that may not seem exciting or sexy but was worthy of discussion due to its many complexities and perhaps convoluted understanding. Les touched on the code impacts of SB-10 and how SB-10 will affect Fenestration designs. He further examined the fenestration calculations as they related to building envelope wall designs and the pathways to compliance of the new code.

The second presentation was presented by Ms. Nicole Parsons of WSB. Nicole managed to delve further into zoning and the possible U value trade-offs. She concisely described how to calculate the minimum insulation R value requirement and the affect it would have on the designs of the roof assembly while taking into account such issues as thermal bridging. Despite the fact that she was discussing the same topic as Les and given the plethora of information provided. Nicole did a fine job in augmenting information that Les had touched on and in fact provided her own detailed analysis on further related issues to SB-10 such as RCI Ontario Chapter would like to thank both Les and Nicole for lending us their expertise and for helping to shed some light on this highly technical and unacquainted topic. The Ontario Chapter would also like to acknowledge Kemper Systems, Oldcastle Building Envelope and Velux skylights for their table top displays and a final special thanks to all those who sponsored and attended the event your continued support is much appreciated!
